ZF6HP26 2001-up Overhaul Kit

TransTec® overhaul kit number 2496 is being reintroduced to the market with an updated bill-of-materials. After the initial release, our development staff discovered that the bonded valve body separator plate would cover only a limited number of BMW models – there are actually five plates to cover all current models. Rather than putting five plates in the kit (of which only one would be required for a rebuild) the original plate has been removed and it will be offered in bulk along with the other four when they become available. The TransTec® kit will continue to cover several BMW models as well as 2005-up Lincoln Navigators.

The updated kits are in stock and available for immediate shipment.

The bulk separator plate numbers will be announced at a later date.
